Ministerial Foreword

Dear Candidate,

Thank you for your interest in being a Non-Executive Board Member at the Department for Energy Security and Net Zero. This pack tells you more about the purpose and nature of the role.

This is an incredibly exciting time for our department as we lead the Prime Minister's mission to make Britain a clean energy superpower. We welcome applications from individuals of all backgrounds, including those from under-represented groups. If you have the experience, skills and vision to help us achieve our mission, we would love to hear from you.

Standards in public life: Candidates must confirm that they understand the standards of probity required of public appointees outlined in the 'Seven Principles of Public Life' drawn up by the Committee on Standards in Public Life.

BPSS is a number of pre-employment checks that must be satisfactorily completed before employment, and before moving to a 'Security Check'.

Conflicts of Interest: Public Appointments require the highest standards of propriety, involving impartiality, integrity and objectivity, in relation to stewardship of public funds and the oversight and management of all related activities. This means that any private, voluntary, charitable or political interest that might be material and relevant to the work of the Department should be declared.

Any conflict will not prevent you going forward to interview but may be explored with you during the selection process. It is important that those appointed as members of public bodies maintain the confidence of Parliament and the public. If there are any issues in your personal or professional history that could, if you were appointed, be misconstrued, cause embarrassment, or cause public confidence in the appointment to be jeopardised, it is important that you bring them to the attention of the Assessment Panel and provide details of the issue(s) in your application. The Panel may explore issues with you before they make a recommendation on the appointment.

Due Diligence: We will consider anything in the public domain related to your conduct or professional capacity. This will include us undertaking searches of previous public statements and social media, blogs or any other publicly available information. This information may be made available to the Panel and they may wish to explore issues with you, should you be invited to interview.

If you have any queries or would like to discuss further, please contact sara.prescott@gatenbysanderson.com

DESNZ offers professional training courses on public sector. All applicants are asked to complete an anonymised Diversity Monitoring Form used for data gathering information only in order to ensure Departments are recruiting from the widest possible pool.

Arrangements for candidates with a disability: as a Disability Confident leader, HMT guarantee to interview anyone with a disability whose application meets the essential criteria for the post. More details on the criteria can be found in this pack. If you wish to apply through the Disability Confident scheme, you will need to tick that option on the Diversity Monitoring form that you will submit alongside your application.

The Seven Principles of Public Life

In 1995, the Committee on Standards in Public Life defined seven principles which should underpin the actions of all who serve the public in any way. Applicants will be assessed on merit, and all candidates will need to uphold the standards of conduct set out in the Seven Principles of Public Life. These will be tested as part of the selection process and the Selection Panel must satisfy itself that all candidates for appointments can meet these standards; which are:

Selflessness: Holders of public office should act solely in terms of the public interest.

Integrity: Holders of public office must avoid placing themselves under any obligation to people or organisations that might try inappropriately to influence them in their work. They should not act or take decisions in order to gain financial or other material benefits for themselves, their family, or their friends. They must declare and resolve any interests and relationships.

Objectivity: Holders of public office must act and take decisions impartially, fairly and on merit, using the best evidence and without discrimination or bias.

Accountability: Holders of public office are accountable to the public for their decisions and actions and must submit themselves to the scrutiny necessary to ensure this.

Openness: Holders of public office should act and take decisions in an open and transparent manner. Information should not be withheld from the public unless there are clear and lawful reasons for so doing.

Honesty: Holders of public office should be truthful.

Leadership: Holders of public office should exhibit these principles in their own behaviour. They should actively promote and robustly support the principles and be willing to challenge poor behaviour wherever it occurs.
