Background

The Home Secretary is required to appoint an Independent Reviewer of Terrorism Legislation (IRTL) under section 36 of the Terrorism Act 2006 and section 20 of the Terrorism Prevention and Investigation Measures Act 2011. The role of the IRTL is to assess the operation of the UK's terrorism legislation, including its effectiveness and proportionality. The IRTL provides critical scrutiny, informing the Parliamentary and public debate on counter-terrorism through written reports, articles, evidence to parliamentary committees and consultations, and media appearances. The role is very similar to that of the Independent Reviewer of State Threats Legislation.

Role Description

- Job Title: Independent Reviewer of Terrorism Legislation
- Remuneration: £202,800 per annum, which is based on approximately 156 days at £1,300 per day (plus VAT and reasonable expenses). The time commitment equates to around three days per week, but this could vary depending on the Independent Reviewer's programme of work and will be at the discretion of the role holder.
- Appointment: An initial appointment of three years. This may be extended subject to satisfactory appraisals and by mutual agreement.
- Location: The successful candidate will be able to work flexibly within the United Kingdom. However, the candidate will need to be able to work from the Home Office main building in central London in order to access higher classification material in a secure environment. The frequency of this may vary but the successful candidate would need to be able to do this at least on a monthly basis. There will also be a requirement to travel throughout Great Britain and Northern Ireland to carry out the role effectively.
- Reporting to: Home Secretary
- Purpose:

The UK faces a terrorist threat which is diverse and complex. As the Director General of MI5 stated in his threat update in October 2025, operational partners are dealing with near record volumes of terrorism investigations. The role of the online environment continues to be critical in radicalisation pathways and to countering terrorist risk, and there is continued presence of minors in terrorism investigations.

The UK's counter-terrorism framework provides a wide and flexible range of specialist counter-terrorism powers to detect, investigate and disrupt terrorist-related activity, while carefully balancing the rights and freedoms that form the basis of our vibrant democratic society.

The Government is therefore seeking an experienced individual to provide independent oversight and scrutiny of the UK's counter-terrorism legislation as the Independent Reviewer of Terrorism Legislation.

The Independent Reviewer may be supported by specialist advisors to help discharge the Reviewer's statutory responsibilities.

Key Responsibilities:

The Independent Reviewer's main responsibilities are to:

- Review and submit an annual report to the Secretary of State for the Home Department on the operation of the Terrorism Act 2000. These reports are laid in Parliament and published on gov.uk.
- Provide the Home Secretary with a proposed annual work programme by 31 January each year, which informs Ministers of all discretionary reviews to be conducted within that calendar year on the operation of statutes falling within the Independent Reviewer's remit, which are:
 - Part 1 of the Terrorism Act 2006;
 - Counter-Terrorism Act 2008
 - Anti-terrorism, Crime and Security Act 2001 (Part 1, and Part 2 in so far as it relates to counter-terrorism)
 - Part 1 of the Counter-Terrorism and Security Act 2015
 - Terrorism Prevention and Investigation Measures Act 2011.
- Under section 31 of the Sanctions and Anti-Money Laundering Act 2018, the Independent Reviewer may also be appointed by The Secretary of State or The Treasury to review regulations with a counter-terrorism purpose from time to time.
- The Independent Reviewer may also be asked by the Home Secretary to undertake reviews into specific areas or topics on occasion. The current postholder, for example, carried out a review of Terrorism in Prisons following several terrorist attacks by terrorist offenders released on licence.
- Respond to the Home Secretary or other Ministers who may, at any time, require the Independent Reviewer to report on any matter relating to the Independent Reviewer's functions. The Independent Reviewer may also choose to report on any matter which he or she considers to be directly related to their functions. This can include, for example, responding to government consultations or the introduction of wider legislation which may impact on the operation of the UK's counter-terrorism legislation.
- In addition, counter-terrorism legislation naturally attracts significant attention, and it is likely that the Independent Reviewer may be called upon to take part in public debates, to give evidence to Parliamentary Committees, the Northern Ireland Policing Board, and international bodies. This will often also include consulting with affected communities and to provide comment to domestic and overseas media on high-profile counter-terrorism issues.
- The IRTL has their own website, where he or she can publish any of their relevant reports and papers.

Person Specification

It is essential in your supporting statement that you provide evidence and proven examples against each of the selection criteria in Part One only of the person specification, in so far as you are able. These responses will be further developed and explored with those candidates invited for interview, together with the other criteria listed in Part Two.

Part One – Essential Criteria

- Ability to demonstrate outstanding personal qualities, in particular, integrity and independence, with a strong and personal commitment to the highest standards of public life.
- A strong understanding and experience in dealing with counter-terrorism legislation and related national security policy issues.
- A balanced appreciation of the importance of civil liberties and their interaction with laws designed to protect the public.
- Expertise in analysing the law and its operation, coupled with a broader understanding of the effects of law on society and the concerns of different groups within society.
- Scrupulous fairness in assessing complex information and competing interests, sound judgment and a willingness to accept scrutiny and challenge.
- A first-class communicator with the authority and interpersonal skills to secure and retain the confidence of a wide range of challenging audiences including parliamentarians, law enforcement and legal professionals, NGOs, affected communities and the media.

Desirable

- Senior barrister, solicitor, judge or legal academic.
- Experience of media and social media.

Part Two – Behaviour, Skills and Abilities

- The ability to command respect quickly and to build mutually supportive relationships and networks.
- A strong intellect, analytical and written skills.
- Resilient in challenging circumstances and able to work under pressure, remaining calm but decisive.
- Comfortable operating in a political environment, whilst also being tenacious and robust.
- The ability to work on sensitive issues requiring the utmost discretion.

As a holder of a public office the IRTL is expected to follow the Seven Principles of Public Life, as set out by the Nolan Committee on Standards in Public Life, at Annex A.

Due diligence: Please note that as part of the recruitment process, due diligence, including social media checks will be undertaken on the short-listed candidates.

Response Instructions

The closing date for applications is 10:00 AM on Friday 17 July 2026

Please submit the following 2 documents, clearly labelled. In order to apply, you will need to click on one of the links below, depending on if you have already set up an account on the new Cabinet Office Public Appointment website.

Indicative Timetable

Please note that these dates are only indicative at this stage and could be subject to change.

Advert Closing Date	10:00 AM, Friday 17 July 2026
Short List Meeting	Expected w/c 20 July
Final Panel Interviews	Expected w/c 27 July
Meeting with Security Minister (if required)	Expected post interview

Selection Process

This role is being competed in accordance with the Governance Code on Public Appointments, which sets out the regulatory framework for public appointments processes. The Code is based on the following principles – selflessness, integrity, merit, openness, diversity, assurance, fairness and public service.

An Advisory Assessment Panel (Panel) will sift applications, assessing each application against the essential criteria, to produce a shortlist. Subject to agreement, they will then conduct interviews to ascertain which candidates are appointable to the role.

The Panel will be chaired by Dr Michelle Haslem, Director General, Homeland Security Group, Home Office. The Chair's role will be to ensure that the appointment is made in accordance with the Governance Code. In addition, the Panel will include a Deputy Director, Homeland Security Group, Home Office, and Sir Peter Gross as the Senior Independent Panel member.

The Home Office Public Appointments Team will acknowledge your application on behalf of the Home Office and keep you updated on the progress of the competition. At the short-listing meeting the selection panel will assess each application against the essential criteria and decide who to invite for interview. Interviews are expected to take place at Home Office HQ, central London, and to last for between 45 and 60 minutes. Further details about the format will be provided to you in advance.

The final decision to appoint to this role rests with the Home Secretary. Appointable candidates may be invited to meet with Ministers before a final decision is made. As a result, there may be a delay in informing candidates of the outcome of the competition.

We encourage a diverse workforce and welcome applications from all suitably qualified people. This appointment is regulated by the Commissioner for Public Appointments.

Please note: Expenses incurred by candidates during the recruitment process will not be reimbursed except in exceptional circumstances and only when agreed in advance with the Home Office Public Appointments Team.

Terms of Appointment

Nature of Appointment: You are not an employee of the Home Office. Accordingly, nothing in this document shall be construed as, or taken to create a contract of employment between you and the Department or His Majesty's Government.

Appointment Term: Your appointment will be for a minimum period of three years. There is a possibility of re-appointment, subject to a satisfactory annual appraisal of performance and Ministerial agreement.

Remuneration:

- The remuneration is taxable through payroll, but the appointment is not pensionable.
- The post holder can claim reimbursement for reasonable travel and subsistence costs necessarily incurred during the course of their duties at rates set centrally.
- Applicants should note that the successful candidate cannot be remunerated for this role if they are being paid for an existing full-time role from the public purse.

Time Commitment: The time commitment is expected to be approximately three days per week, but this will vary, and is at the discretion of the postholder.

Location: Flexible within the United Kingdom. However, the successful candidate will be required to work from Home Office Headquarters in Central London on occasion, in order to review sensitive material in a secure environment and be prepared to travel throughout Great Britain and Northern Ireland.

Availability: The successful candidate will be encouraged to take up their appointment as soon as possible, subject to the successful completion of pre-appointment checks and security clearance.

Security clearance: The successful candidate will be required to have or be willing to obtain security clearance to Developed Vetting (DV) level. DV is the most comprehensive form of security vetting. Carrying out the relevant checks can take a number of months. It includes:

- a basic check of identity documents and employment/education referees;
- a check against departmental/company records;
- the completion of a security questionnaire and a specific, more detailed DV supplementary questionnaire;
- a check against the criminal and security records of the UK and, if appropriate, of overseas countries;
- a credit reference check;
- the completion of a financial questionnaire;
- a detailed interview conducted by an investigating officer; and
- further enquiries, including the checking of references, in writing, by telephone or by interview, from both personal friends and employers as appropriate.

Nationality: Please note, given the nature of the role this post is open only to UK nationals who must hold or be prepared to undertake Developed Vetting clearance. Individuals should normally have been resident in the UK for 10 years preceding their application for DV clearance. The role will be offered on a conditional basis until the successful candidate has passed all checks. For further information, please follow this link:

National security vetting: clearance levels - GOV.UK \(www.gov.uk\)

Confidentiality: You will be subject to the provisions of the Official Secrets Act and required to exercise care in the use of official information acquired in the course of official duties, and not to disclose information which is held in confidence.

Disqualification for appointment: There are circumstances in which an individual will not be considered for appointment. They include:

- people who have received a prison sentence or suspended sentence of 3 months or more in the last 5 years;
- people who are the subject of a bankruptcy restrictions order or interim order;
- in certain circumstances, those who have had an earlier term of appointment terminated;
- anyone who is under a disqualification order under the Company Directors Disqualification Act 1986; and
- anyone who has been removed from trusteeship of a charity.

Further advice about disqualification for appointment can be given by contacting the Public Appointments Team on publicappointments@homeoffice.gov.uk

Standards in public life: You will be expected to demonstrate high standards of corporate and personal conduct. Candidates will be expected to abide by the “Seven Principles of Public Life” set out by the Committee on Standards in Public Life (see below, page 11).

Registration of interests: The purpose of these provisions is to avoid any danger of the post holder being influenced, or appearing to be influenced, by their private interests in the exercise of their public duties.

Public appointments require the highest standards of propriety, involving impartiality, integrity and objectivity, in relation to the stewardship of public funds and the oversight and management of all related activities. This means that any private, voluntary, charitable, or political interest which might be material and relevant to the work of the body concerned should be declared. It is important, therefore, that you consider your circumstances when applying for a public appointment and identify any potential conflicts of interest, whether real or perceived.

There is a requirement to declare any actual or potential conflict of interest you may have in being appointed as Independent Reviewer in a separate form. Any actual or perceived conflicts of interest will be fully explored by the Advisory Assessment Panel at interview stage.

Further advice about disqualification for appointment can be given by contacting the Public Appointments Team on publicappointments@homeoffice.gov.uk.

Political Activity: You are expected not to occupy paid party political posts or hold particularly sensitive or high-profile roles in a political party during your appointment as Independent Reviewer. Subject to the foregoing, you are free to engage in political activities provided that you are conscious of your general public responsibilities and exercise a proper discretion, particularly with regard to the work of the Independent Reviewer.

You will be required to complete a Political Activity Declaration as part of your application, which will be kept separate from your application and will only be seen by the Panel prior to interview. The Panel may at that stage explore with you any potential for conflict of interest. It is appreciated that political activities may have given you relevant skills, including experience gained from committee work, collective decision making, resolving conflict and public speaking. If, therefore, you have had such experience and you consider it relevant to your application for this post, you may if you choose include it separately in the main body of your application.

Disability Confident: The Home Office is an accredited user of the government's "Disability Confident" disability symbol, which denotes organisations which have a positive attitude towards disabled applicants. Applicants who meet the minimum criteria in the job specification are guaranteed an interview (GIS). Selection will be on merit. If you wish to apply for consideration under this scheme, please complete the online form. It is not necessary to state the nature of your disability.

Whether you choose to apply under the GIS or not you can still ask us to make particular arrangements for you when attending an interview. You can also contact us if you want to discuss the criteria for the role or have questions regarding your application.

Equal Opportunities Monitoring: The Home Office is committed to providing equal opportunities for all, irrespective of race, age, disability, gender, marital status, religion, sexual orientation and transgender.

As part of the application process, we ask candidates to complete equal opportunities monitoring information. This will help us to monitor selection decisions to assess whether equality of opportunity is being achieved. The information in Annex C will be treated as confidential and used for statistical purposes only. The form will not be treated as part of your application.

Centre for Public Appointments Database: If you consent, we will retain your CV and contact details for the purposes of alerting you to any opportunities that may arise in future. We will also share your CV and contact details with the Centre for Public Appointments in the Cabinet Office who may use it for this purpose. They may also share it with other Government Departments so that they can contact you about such opportunities. You may withdraw your consent to your information being processed for this purpose at any time by contacting dpo@homeoffice.gov.uk.

Complaints: If you are not completely satisfied with the way your application is handled at any stage of the competition, please raise any complaint in the first instance with the Public Appointments Team at: publicappointments@homeoffice.gov.uk

We will reply to your complaint within 20 days. If, after receiving our response you are still not satisfied, you may contact the Commissioner for Public Appointments

ANNEX A – THE SEVEN PRINCIPLES OF PUBLIC LIFE

The principles of public life apply to anyone who works as a public office-holder. This includes all those who are elected or appointed to public office, nationally and locally, and all people appointed to work in the civil service, local government, the police, courts and probation services, NDPBs, and in the health, education, social and care services. All public office-holders are both servants of the public and stewards of public resources. The principles also have application to all those in other sectors delivering public services.

Selflessness

Holders of public office should act solely in terms of the public interest. They should not do so in order to gain financial or other material benefits for themselves, their family, or their friends.

Integrity

Holders of public office should not place themselves under any financial or other obligation to outside individuals or organisations that might seek to influence them in the performance of their official duties.

Objectivity

In carrying out public business, including making public appointments, awarding contracts, or recommending individuals for rewards and benefits, holders of public office should make choices on merit.

Accountability

Holders of public office are accountable for their decisions and actions to the public and must submit themselves to whatever scrutiny is appropriate to their office.

Openness

Holders of public office should be as open as possible about all the decisions and actions that they take. They should give reasons for their decisions and restrict information only when the public interest clearly demands.

Honesty

Holders of public office have a duty to declare any private interests relating to their public duties and to take steps to resolve any conflicts arising in a way that protects the public interest.

Leadership

Holders of public office should promote and support these principles by leadership and example.
